 THE LANG OF TAX REFORM.

Index present tax system there are three capital errors. One of these consists in the blank refusal of our assessors to obey the law which requires all property to be assessed at its actual cash saine. Instead of ob-ping this law they assess most property at one-third to one-fourth of its rach value, operating the law they assess most property at one-third to one-fourth of its rach value.—presuriably because the people at large with not let them obey the few, since each one has a no ion that in the under-waluation he is getting some advantage over his valuation he is getting some advantage over his neighbor. A second error is the attempt to ax credits, and a third is the deduction of indebtednees. These three things make our up and about as had as it can be, and until they are about as had as it can be whicker' the laws in remedied all attempts to "linker" the laws in inlinor particulars will produce no results of benefit to the state.

By both constitution and statute assessors are required to rate properly at tescionicash value; and since he law on this point could be more definite or obligatory than those we have now, it is quite useless to enact any more, in the hope faci is (but the people will not permit the asses ages to do their sworn duty. Hence property is undervalued, and, with descention of indebtudundervalued, and, with decuction of indefitul-tions, get in part of the troperty of the state excepts.

Taxadio) of credits is maintained under the erronecombelief that it is a measure that te-empts the poor man and compels, the rich man to pay. But, in fact its affect is the reverse of this. It makes the poor deptor pay a much higher interest rate, so as to cover the tax; and at the same time it discourages that free com-medition of money with money which show can petition of money with money, which alone can reduce the interest rate. Taken in connection with those acts known as your laws, it biniers the free movement of meney, represes entar-prise and becomes a factor in producing and ling general stagnation, like that witnessed in Oregon during so many years. One of sie than Oregon is found in the fact that her laws do not repress the free movement of money, Again, deduction of incaptedness is retained use it is supposed to be a measure in the man's interest. But it is, in fact, a method why the rich and well-to-do escape a large share of their just contributions to the public revenues. Euppose a man to be worth $150,000. revenues. Suppose a man be worth glob, on, hereby in city property and lands. His assessment, like that of every other person, is not assessment, like that of every other person, is not attout. Then if he ower a considerable sum of money, through deduction of indebtedness he at escapes taxation. If, through undervalatmost escapes (armion. Is, through underval-eation one-half of the property of the state es-capes taxes, and this estimate falls below the reality, then one-third to one-half the remainder escapes through deduction if indebtedness; and most of it that escapes through this last contri-vance is the property of those called the weathly chans. They who are called poor—and these are the wisers of our nearly agent in terrors that the masses of our people—seem to forget that when the assessor comes round. In fact it is slyand the men of large property that owe devised expressly for them, couldn't be a more effective instrument in sombling them to beat the tax-gatherers.

This tax question is before our legislature st This tax question is before our legislature at exergiseasion, but it is never considered except in a superficial way. Nothing of any value will be a superficial way. In the double error of taxing credits and deducting Indebteds oned. When this is done and the u laws are also rejected our fiscal system will gin to assume rational form.

THE PORTENTS OF WAR.

The passion of France for revenge upon Germany appears to become more and mo feat and believes herself to be growing able to strike the return blow; but it may be feared that France, in harboring this purpose of revenze, is preparing herself for another and still deeper bumiliation than that which overtook her six teen years ago.
There is no doubt that extraordinary efforts have been made to put the French army in the highest possible condition, both as to numbers and efficiency. Gen. Boulanger, who has taker the lead in this work, has become the hero of the pation, chiefly because he has opened the French mind to the thought that it is possible to obtain that triumph over Germany which is overs freethman's controling deete. The mighty armament of France and the spirit of war which it is creating give concern to Ger-many, for it is supposed with reason that when-ever the French people believe themselves in a dition to make war with promise of success. war they will have, whether their government is willing or not. The Berlin Post, warning Germany, says: "Boulanger can govern the Sermany, says: Boulanger can govern the situation in France only by beeping up the warlike impetus he has given to L. The impression left on the minds of all observers is that the armaments of France having been pushed forward with feverish energy, Boulanger no longer has the power to lead the people back to the path of

The alarm witnessed in Garmany only mules more eager, because it leads her to the cope with Germany. That is, the slarm of thermany is accepted as her recognition of the power of Prance and of darger of her own de-feat. That Boulanger has frightened the Gar mans and that the latter confess it, is enough in itself to make him the here of the hour is Prince, He has gotten up an aronnest of which teermany evinces fear, and this fact

A judicious observer of the Unation in Europe writes: "France cannot been the mane of Cirrmany without a thought of revenge. She has become the victim of this like to such a degree that it is the dominant one of net life. No fact 680 be considered apart from this master par-leon. Ordinary activities not aspiration par-postponed to it—and France would perhaps freely give the life of one generation of her sons to marchiler conquering out allows through the streets of Berlin. She would, perhaps, secrifice the republic to this aspiration. It is unfortunate that neighboring nations should ever come to reand the another with as druch the any more war as France is inspired with against Germany. It makes war too ferocious for pivilized ages. But Germany is in part to blame for it. She made her victory the occasion for humiliating condi-tions, and carried those so far that they could mot but provoke the hate that must be reckoned with. The hate to of consequence now." France now boasts the largest and most efficient army she ever possessed, and if she doesn't fight what is she going to do with 41? War, in-deed, may not ensue; but is there not danger that this tension will produce it? This, evithat the tension will produce it? Ins, evidently, is the thought of Europe. Again, is it not quite possible that Gen. Boulanger having worked up the wir fever throughout the nation, may be obliged to make war of rail out of favor? It is a significant fact that throughout Europe the vastly augmented unitary establishment of France is interpreted as a very sure pertent of France is interpreted as a very sure portent or not distant war.

English opinion on the subject is worth noting. "The better informed the politican," says the London Spectator," the more seriously does he expect war in the spring." In the same journal Mr. Arnold Forster writes: "I believe that a declaration by Russia is among the abecute certainties of the immediate future." Our cable reports of resterday gave emphasis to this opinion by the statement that the coar refuses to give Germany assurance that he will remain neotral in case of war between Germany and France. "The clouds are heavy with war," says the Hanchester Guardion, "and the keenast observers are evidently bearing that the war." act operators are symmetry territy man the week cloud may burst suddenly." Says the London Three: "The diplomatic situation in Europe is shadowed with dark opens. If in doubtful whether the powers that are on the alle of seace and treaty rights will be abld to set bounds to the amplition of Russia, and Germany ap-nears to be paralized by the dread of a Francis sian alliance." And the Levent Hera d seems beipiess. A cycle might say: The war has come. It is not convenient that it shou i break out prematurely, but the questions that are to lead to war must be kept open.' Proably the fact is that these questions caunot bese tled without war. Whenever the hurning desire of France for revenge upon Germany can be fully combined with the never-sleeping ambition of Russia for an onward movement toward Constantinople, # cannot be doubted that these two great aggress sive nations, if they see their opportunity, will endeavor to make the most of it.

AS TO PENSIONS.

The official inquiry, andressed to the G. A. R. by Communicatinghial Fairchild, as to what the order thinks of the vetoed "Prependent pension bill," has a curious, not to say states, sound. Gov. Fairchild refers to "the very great sound. Gov. Fairchild refers to "the very great importance of that measure to many of our disabled comrades who need and are justly anti-tied to its help," and the fair implication of his logary is that he approves of the bill, is sorry its velocit, and would be glad to see it passed over the president's so o. If the commander inchef sympathized with the volt it was a good time for him either to be saident, or if has poke at all to help the president and the veltans of the house in burying the bill beyond hone of rearran to map the president and the exerts at the house in burying the bill beyond hope of resurrection; so the issue of his appeal fairly implies, despite its gearded ianguage, that the command er-in-chief thinks well of the bill and would have been gind ic have had its cacted. The appeal is an invitation for the G. A. Et to put congress under the pressure of the "soldier vote," so far as it may be represented by the G. A. R. If the provisions of this bill are fairly under

It the provisions of this on are unit under-stood, as they ought to be bylevery candid man who read the president's vato, weldo not believe that the G. A. R., which voted down by a large majority at San Francisco the: Lovering universai pension bill, will be backward in denouncing the bill vetoed by the president, for in practical effect it would no, fail much short of a universal pension bill, since under it any man who wore the federal uniform and is willing to say that he is dependent, could get a pension. Under the bill recommender that the bill recommender the statement of the stateme der this bill every man who served ninety days without seeing a battle or hearing a shot first In anger, or even gold z out of camp where he was taken into serve, would receive $12 a month if he could show that mental or physical disability prevented h.m. from earning a living. The qualification that this disability, The qualification that this disability, real or feigned, shall not be "the result of victous habits or gross carelesaness," is worthless, for nobody has the slightest individual interest in exposing the duplicity of a false claimant. Under the arrears of pension act hundreds of measured pensions through perjury, because their neighbors and comrades, even when too honest to aid their conspiracy by affidavits, winked as its success from the natural feeling that if a sol dier could best the government out of a position by tall swearing, they were not unwilling that be should succeed, and helped him by slience or evasive and equivocatory testimony.

Under the bill veloud by the president, as the experience of history has shown, falseshood and fraud would be sure to swell the present penson roll and its angust disbursements to gigante proportions. It violates, as Gen. Warnel pointed out, the sound principle that a pension pointed out, the sound principle that a pension should be given only for wounds or disability incurred in service and in the line of duty, and if it becomes a law it would open the door wide for the passage of the Lovering pension bit, which proposes a pension to #il men who can furnish proof of service and produce an honorable discharge. The dependent pension bit of 1818 was passed upon the estimate that no more than 374 veterans of the revolution would be applicable under it, but within two wear be applicants under it, but within two year there were 28,551 applications, of which 16,270 were successful. The annual cost of the law estimated at $40,000, rose to $2,766,440. Homes nature is about the same to day as it was in 1818 and if it is, the bill vetoed by the presiden would swell our pension roll to 865,000 and it angual disbursements to nearly $150,000,000.

Ex-Senator Thurman, it is said, will not as cept's position on the commission under the interstate commerce till. The position would not be to his liking, it would be hard work and poor pay, and moreovar, he is leading counse for the Bell Telephote company in its illigation about patent rights, and this employment pays the a very large sum of imbney, and he likely to continue for several years. Mr. The man's intimate friends say he would not thin of giving up a business like this, in the line o his profession, for a right on the form of the continue for t his profession, for a place on the interstate con

I also ree a paragraph from the gossipping pen of J. W. Webb, that I suppose requiresome attention on account of its maliguancy though it is so transparently weak as almost to be beneath notice. This would be archyrobiblicious it avidently unable to comprehens the difference between a few trial ballots, placed temporarily, and often under protest, in the hands of a few inexperienced women in a territory, and the full-fledged ballots of all the men of the station, who possess them without the saking and hold them securely land perpetually. Because he and other men of his stamp can actike "little fools?" with their ballots, just as much and as often as they please without any danger of loosing "the boon?, this would-testatesman imagines that all women should do as he does, regurdless of the very pulpable disference netweet their precent political status and his own. CONTACTOUS DISEABL LEGISLATION.

HILLSBORG, Feb. 15, 1887. If our legislature at the present session falls to enact a suitable law to prevent the importa tion or spread of contagious diseases among our comestic animals, especially contagious pieuro pneumon a of cattle, it may ultimately prove very unfortunate for this state.

Our cattle industry has grown to considerable maghitude, and our exports of stock cattle, and breeding animals, to Deighboring states, tertitortes and British Columbia, to of considerable importance, and afforce quite a revenue to our breeders; but let contagious plauro-pneumonia to once introduced into this state, however imited, our export trade will virtually coases as purchasers will be afraid to run the chance of introducing that dreaded disease among their

LICEBSE TO MEDICAL PRACTIFICERS. Feb. 15, 1887.

Fob. 15, 1887.
TO THE EDITION OF THE OREGORIAN:
Your reporter states that senate bill No. 114, 18st by one vote Monday evening, provided that separty clerks could issue illeane "only to graduates of reputable medical colleges." Such is zies of reputable medical colleges." Such is not the case. The bill provides that the clerk same license to the following three classes: First, graduates of reputable medical colleges; second, those who have been practicing five years; third, those who have been practicing five years; third, those who have been practicing five years and had one course of, lectures in addition thereto.

Mr. Chamberlin has the cradit of defeating he ungarate. He represented that he had letters from reputable physicians urging the desart of the bill.

I will venture the opinion that no physician of good standing will, over his own algositure, publicly say that S. B. No. 114 is not a good beginning. It does one thing that neither nature nor the Greator does. It makes doctors out of nen list have little of no knowledge of the dangerous drugs they no. L. HENDERSON.

New Offices in Demand —The passage of Harrington's bill creating the offices of county recorder, clerk of the county court and clerk of Harrington's bili creating the offices of county recorder, clock of the county court and clerk of the circuit court for Multaoman county brings the board of county count issuers face to face with the proposition that these officers, when elected, will have to have some place to do business in, and eafe deposit ries for the several records. All three cannot use the present office of the county clerk, and as each officer is responsible for the records of his office, he will have to be provided with a fire-priof vault. The courthouse, with the new addition, a node too large for present requirements, and it will not be the easiest matter in the work to find from for the new offices in the present building. At least two new raults will have o be but I and somebody is going to be crowded. However, sider the matter, as the law does not go into affect till the next greatest and an arready along tapidly, and legal business keeps good with business. It will not be nany rears before the present courtbouse will be entirely inadequate to it a demands. The jail is too small now. ETCHEMENT (OFRE AN ARRIVA. FROM SEA.—At E o'clock A. M. yesterday the observer at Fort Storons telgraphed. "Vessel passed in." As no word came from Anteria for several hours the hipping interests concluded that the vessel must be a lishing or lumber schooner, and that so long a time had passed sincs the arrival of a vessel that the observer had forgotten the appearance of a deep-sea cutt. Early in the day the ship chandlers, butch ers, plots, tow hast, and bourding-house men were industrically at work trying to get into name of the ressel, the was even proposed to give the captain an elegant supper upon the arrival here, inasmuch as he had sarled the monotony long provalling. A telephone advice from Astoria reported a wild secret there upon receipt of first savice, and a Sand Island when the vessel was known to have anchored there. The last previous arrival of deep-sea craft was that of the Homont of January were six vessels, four prior to the 5th. It is little wonder that an arrival now should create such interest. The first headed this way is nearly folty vessels, one third of this number being due within a monta.

Firse Exercise—A crowd numbering about a hundred sat or stood all day long yesterday at the foot of Morrison streat to watch the workmen engaged in defung plais for false work fo the last span of the new bridge. Not the sam people, or at least not many of the encounters and goets, and every one seemed intersated in the work. There are few things more unteresting and pleasant than to look at some one else doing work, and doing it gracefully annekillfully, especially if the wirk is taborious or dangerous. It is almost as good as taking some exercise one's self to watch squae fellow lift and tur, and to see the sweat start out in great beads on his brow really seems to open once a own porce. And then when some big beam has been put in itaplace successfully, with what a satisfied air one can walk off, as if the very fact of his looking or had semisting to do with it. And how he will emply life glass of heer as he thinks how might the worker would like a schoomer himself. Oh, there's mothing to pleasant and healthy as to watch intelligent skilled laborers working.

AN ILL-WIYD GOUD FOR ORFOON—The ideastrous news concerning the fearful loss of cattle men here, who feel inclined to thank their lucky stars that their lines are cast in Oregon, where blezards are unknown. The winter in Montana appears to have been the most disastrous known there, and the loss of cattle unparalleled. According to all accounts the ranges have leen swept clean of cattle. There was an immense number of cattle driven into that territory last year from Texas and from this state. It is an ill-wind that their was no one good, and the chilling blizzards of Montana will blow many a dollar into the packets of Oregon cattle men. It is a cold day when Oregon gots left. A. H. A thousand opportunities daily present themselves in which he can unconsciously impress his pupils with all that is noble. He needs not the "ten commandments" to mould the mind of the child so that stealing or at ling will seem wrong. Our text books afford sufficient matter; all that is needed on his part is in little originality.

The bible to primary pupils is of little consequence. To advance pupils for school purtoses it as often proves a detriment, by encouraging sacrilege, as a beaseft.

Coleman said this board, by glowing descriptions and misrepresentations, and houghts along as of immigrants to this country that we did not want. Every senator honestly knew this. The labor market was aiready flooded with men look ling for work at 50 cente a day. We send out fiaming mamphiets and exaggerated accounts of our country and tell of bits grass seven a eight feet high. We all know we may have occasionally seen a spear of grass that high, but It was off common we all knew this exhibition car which was the country was a trand, Such old weather.

Shupe, Miller and Barin defended the course that so been pursued by the board, atteging that the stock had received great rood from its work, and should be continued. The pamphiets circulated y the board save tair descriptions and were comiled from information received from the board's conts in every county in the state. I would just like to say the remark about the armor in which they are clad is quite trus. I would just her say that when a genuinaly or theroughly converted person make alication to their past lives it is not because they are proul of the greatness of thair past sin, neither is the because they wish the people to know how very tad they have bean. It is because they wish the people to know how very tad they have bean. It is because they wish the people to understand that the vilest sinner can be saved through the stoung merits of the blood of, our Lord Jessa Christ. I wonder i those people who get so weary of seeing their follow man going headlong into bodily as well as spirit of the world, ever get weary of seeing their follow man going headlong into bodily as well as spirit all destruction. I am not a member of the Saivation Army, but thanks to 6 dot I am 1 member of that happy throng who belong to the Lord Jessa Christ, and I believe, yea I know, he Saivation Army, but thanks to 6 dot I am 1 member of the state of the said of the places all around the world. I believe in giving honor to wrom honor is due, and my semmet prayer to fed it that all who read this land do not know their an stong van may speedily come to a know their an stong van may speedily come to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus, whom to know wight is life eternal.

MISS. S. C. WH.SON ASTORIA 'O G ?AY'S HARBOR The Cricago Journal of Commerce has obtained exterments from most of the rail mills of the country for the purpose of making an estimate of the maximum capacity for manufacture, during the current fear. It gives a total of about 3,70,000 tons, instifying the claim that an estimate of 3,00,000 tons per annum is within bounds. Of course it does not follow that the bills will actually turn out so much during 1887. That has to be determined by the demand, with some other considerations which may have to be impared with it. As contracts are said to have been already made for nearly 2,000,000 tons, it is not that the mills will find business arough to keep them employed ull next January. The iron and steel association publishes statistics of the production of Bessement steel during 180, from which we make the following expanding the production of 1885 was much the largest in our history down to that year, but the production of 1886 was much the largest of 1886 was much the largest in our history down to that year, but the production of 1886 was much the largest in the production of loss in larger still.
